FOP Makes Annual Pitch For More Pay, Benefits

by Diane Oberg

At a March 11 worksession, the Greenbelt Lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) presented their requests for the next budget year to the city council. Their requests included increases in the night differential and on-call pay rates, a cost of living increase, and city contributions to the health insurance costs of retired officers. A request for on-call pay for the command staff was withdrawn during the meeting at the request of two of the department's three lieutenants (one of whom made the original request that the FOP seek this benefit for them).

While declining to address the specific FOP proposals until he presents his budget on March 24, City Manager Michael McLaughlin "encourage[d]" council, if it considers granting the health insurance, COLA or on call pay requests, to apply them to all city employees, not just the police officers.

More Officers Needed

In addition to the pay and benefits issues for which the FOP represents city officers, Pfc John Rogers "once again champion[ed]" the cause of adding more officers to the city police force. He argued that the number of officers on the street has not changed in the last seven or eight years. Council noted that it had added officers, such as the school resource officer and bike patrol officer. However, Rogers said that these two officers are not really "on the street." The bike officer, for example, would have to return to his car before being able to assist an officer in trouble. The number of sworn officers has increased from 42 in 1990 to 48 in 1997, with several of those officers having specific assignments (such as the traffic officer). Rogers said that at least four additional officers (one per patrol squad) are needed. Cpl. Carl Schinner told council that there has been a "dramatic increase" in armed robberies. Responding to such a call takes all the officers on duty at the time. He noted that as the city has few new officers, the average officer gets more leave time. As a result, he said, "we are continually working with minimal" staffing.

Health Insurance

The FOP's first request was that the city pay the same percentage of the health insurance costs for retirees as it does for active duty officers. Currently, retirees are eligible to continue participating in the city's health insurance plan, but must pay the entire premium. For those with family coverage, the total cost is currently $5,800. Rogers noted that new federal legislation would require the city to cover the health insurance costs for officers who had to retire due to injuries suffered while responding to an emergency. Failure to comply would cost the city its eligibility for certain federal funds.

None of the councilmembers appeared interested in extending this benefit, although Councilmember Edward Putens asked for a review of the city's policy as it relates to officers who retired on disability. Councilmember Thomas White suggested, since long term disabilities are covered under the state retirement plan, asking the state legislature to consider providing this benefit to all disabled municipal employees. Chief James Craze noted that only four officers in the history of the city police force retired on length of service; the remainder have all retired on disability.

"... the number of officers on the street has not changed in the last seven or eight years."

Pfc John Rogers

Rogers said he could not say who else offered such a benefit, and questioned the legitimacy of limiting city benefits to what other jurisdictions offered, suggesting that only the city's situation is relevant.

Councilmember Rodney Roberts noted that he had "never heard of" any private company or other jurisdiction paying health insurance costs for retirees. Councilmember Judith Davis understood why the FOP was making this request — it would be a very nice benefit, she said. However, she hoped Rogers understood that the city may need to do other things with its funds.

Mayor Antoinette Bram noted, and Rogers agreed, that the FOP was asking for better benefits than offered by the federal government. Rogers countered that if all active duty officers joined the health insurance program, it would cost the city more than the requested benefit. This argument also appeared not to sway the councilmembers.

Cost of Living Increase

The FOP is seeking a five percent cost of living adjustment (COLA) for the next fiscal year. Rogers noted that city employees have not had a COLA for the last two years. As a result, he argued, officers are now 7 percent behind the consumer price index (CPI). This argument is based upon changes since 1987. The CPI has increased 34.2 percent during that time, while city COLAs have totaled only 26.75 percent. (COLAs are not the only increases granted to city employees. As noted by White, many employees also get merit pay increases. Putens countered that merit pay raises are not comparable to COLAs.)

Rogers said that the requested COLA would not close this gap, but would "allow us to somewhat catch up." Bram noted that the city has provided additional benefits other than COLAs and that the reason COLAs were not paid the last two years is that "there wasn't any money."

White had little sympathy. He said that the gap cited by Rogers was "pretty good," compared with the federal pay gap of 21 percent. Davis said that teachers had fallen even farther behind the CPI.

Bram suggested that the COLA requested by the FOP was high, noting that federal pay increased only 2.9 percent last year. Rogers objected to the federal pay raise being used as a ceiling on city pay raises. He said that the only relevant information is the availability of city funds and how the city's budget works. The mayor countered that the city budget "won't work," and that funds are again expected to be tight. Rogers argued that practices of other jurisdictions should not "enter in" to considerations of city benefits. He declined to agree, however, when Bram sought an agreement that the FOP wouldn't use the practices of other jurisdictions when seeking additional benefits in the future.

Davis called this "another wonderful proposal," but asked him to "show me the money."

Rogers estimated that a five percent COLA for the FOP would cost $112,500 for the next fiscal year. McLaughlin estimated that granting that same COLA to the entire city work force would cost $300,000.

James W. Bordas - Activist With the Fire Dept. - Dies

James William Bordas, 69 years of age, and longtime resident of Greenbelt, passed away suddenly at Doctors Hospital on March 20. He leaves a loving and devoted family, his wife of 47 years, Pauline, sons Jame C. and Barry A. Bordas; loving daughter-in-law Sandra Bordas; grandchildren Samantha Woods and Leo Bordas and great-granddaughter Ashley Gabrielle Woods, all of Greenbelt.

Jim Bordas has been in Greenbelt since 1937. He resided in Berwyn Heights but attended Greenbelt Center Elementary School. He went on to Greenbelt High School where he graduated in 1945 and then went into the U.S. Navy and served until 1947.

Jim Bordas and Pauline St. Martin of Greenbelt were married in St. Hugh's Church on November 12, 1949. They moved into an apartment on Crescent Rd. He became a member of the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department. He worked for the Federal Government and finally obtained the position of Chief of Payroll for the Weather Bureau which became the National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration, retiring after 37 years of service.

His happiest moments were spent helping his friends and neighbors, helping to fix anything that might need his attention, and repairing bikes and toys for the neighborhood children.

When he was running on fire calls he sparked the interest of several young men in the neighborhood who joined the Greenbelt Fire Department and then eventually became professional fire fighters. His son See BORDAS, page 5

Teenage Fair Offers Job, Community Service Info

The Greenbelt Recreation Department is sponsoring a Teenage Fair to be held at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center on Saturday, April 12 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Representatives from government and private businesses will be present to offer community service and summer jobs. Light refreshments, including pizza, will be served to those who attend.

It has been reported in the Washington Post that 3,000 students from Prince George's and Montgomery County have not fulfilled their community service obligations and will not be able to graduate from high school this year. The Greenbelt Teenage Fair will provide students with opportunities to meet representatives of organizations which have community service openings. Students are encouraged to attend the fair and make arrangements to fulfill their graduation community service requirements. In addition to community service jobs, the private business representatives will be seeking to hire qualified students for summer employment.

A third component of the fair is to provide registration for the Greenbelt Moving Ahead (GMA) program, which will be held at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center on Saturday mornings during the school year. The program will provide tutoring, guidance in filling out job and college applications, information on available financial aid, and assistance in preparing for SAT exams.

Kevin McLinton, a former basketball star at the University of Maryland, who is now completing his necessary course work at the university for a criminology degree, will be present at the fair to say hello and encourage students to complete their education.

Teenagers will receive information about the fair from schools, from advertisements in the News Review, and from posters placed at many locations around town.

To date, the following government and private business organizations have made a commitment to attend the fair: Einstein Bagels, CO-OP, 7-Eleven, K-Mart, CVS Pharmacy, AMC Theaters, 3 Brothers Pizza, Hollywood Video, City of Greenbelt, Chevy Chase Bank, Crestar Bank, Frank's Nursery, Prince George's County American Red Cross, Greenbelt Nursing & Rehabilitation Center, Greenbelt Adult Day Care, Goddard Space Flight Center (NASA), Greenbelt Park, Owens Science Center, and the U.S. District Court House.

Teenagers are encouraged to bring their parents or other adult relatives so that they may get a better understanding about the benefits and responsibilities associated with community service.

Thanks

We would like to thank you, all our Greenbelt friends and neighbors, for your overwhelming support during the most difficult occasion of the passing of our husband, father, and grandfather, Hugh McEvoy. Your thoughts and prayers were a great comfort over the last few months. Your kindness and generosity exemplifies the spirit that makes Greenbelt a special place.

Thanks

The family of Thomas "Tim" Delaney would like to thank all our friends and neighbors who have helped us so much in our bereavement. We would also like to thank the American Legion Post #136 for all they have done for us and Father Crowley of St. Hugh's Church, who brought comfort and support during a difficult time. Thank you and God Bless.

On Tram Ride

As a volunteer at the National Wildlife Visitor Center (NWVC), I want to congratulate Jim Giese on the wonderful article he wrote in the March 20 issue of the News Review. However, I would like to correct an impression he may have left regarding the tram ride. While it is true that the tram is available for groups to rent anytime the weather permits, the tram is also available to the general public. Starting last weekend, 3/15, the tram is operating for the general public on weekends, weather permitting (for a small fee). It runs every hour on the half hour on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays. When school is over, the tram will run every day on the same schedule.

The tram is a one-of-a-kind electric vehicle that is powered and geared for off-road travel. It can carry 40 passengers. As the map shows in Giese's article, the tram goes around Lake Redington, a trip of about two miles, and takes about 30 minutes. One of my duties at the NWVC is as an interpreter on the tram. The interpreter identifies the plants and wildlife that are seen on the tour, as well as describes some of the research that is going on at the Patuxent Refuge on the South Tract, the location of the Center. The tram ride is one of the more attractive activities at the Center, so I would advise anyone planning to take the tour to come and purchase their tickets early. I would also suggest they call in advance to find out when the first tour starts, and if there are any questions about the weather.

Boomers Respond In Open Letter

Dear Madam Mayor:

Someone produced a video for us containing the contents of the March 13th News Review. (We watched it on TV, because as you may know we boomers don't read.) The video was difficult to hear (that rock music you know), but we managed to make out some comments you apparently made to the Golden Age Club. You said something about boomers growing older (well, don't we all), and how they aren't like today's seniors. There seemed to be some suggestion that we need guidance so that we can adjust to our golden years. (It was hard to hear over the Beatles music.) Did you mention that we also were looking for video games and a place to burn our incense? Could you see about having a "quad room" put in Green Ridge House so we can listen to a little Jefferson Starship? It is nice to know that the city is thinking ahead to our retirement needs. Now if you could only arrange for some "Peace" symbols to be sprayed on the walls that would be great! Also, how about a Friday night protest, you know us boomers love a good counter-culture demonstration. Well, just thought we'd give you something else to think about. You can never plan too far ahead!

Wayne & Ruth Spong,

A Better Spray

The Greenbelt News Review deserves every credit for the two articles on the announcement by the Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) that it plans to join with the U. S. Forest Service and the Prince George's County government to spray the central section of Greenbelt with Dimilin. The target is the caterpillar of the gypsy moth. Caterpillars die after they eat leaves sprayed with Dimilin because they cannot form new, larger skins.

The unintended targets are the other moths and butterflies and perhaps you and me. We have had enough of these well-meaning, but idiotic, actions. In one sweeping statement the MDA says that no human health effects are likely. Why didn't the MDA say — "absolutely and positively no human health effects are likely."

There is another way to suppress the gypsy moth and save our oaks from defoliation. On March 14, 1997, Susan Rudy, environmental specialist with the National Park Service, announced that the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will spray the 860 contiguous acres of the Federal Greenbelt Park with GYPCHECK (Nucleopolyhedrosis virus). This virus is specific to the gypsy moth and poses no threat to human health or non-target plants and animals.

GYPCHECK is produced by the U. S. Forest Service using cultures of virus-infected gypsy moth larvae for use in environmentally sensitive areas on public lands. It is registered by the Environmental Protection Agency.

The National Park Service/National Capital Area has prepared an Environmental Assessment for the spray program. You can get a copy of the document by calling 202-690-5162.

Information Please

We are doing a state research report in my class and I will be reporting on Maryland. The report is due in May and I would be happy if your citizens will send me some things (or a letter) about the history, interesting points unique to Maryland, and the physical features. I am writing to your local paper to ask if you could publish my letter. And I hope that some of the citizens will write and tell me about their life and some experiences living in Maryland. I live in Southern California and I bet Maryland has many different things. I hope your readers have time to reply to this letter. It would be great if they did and maybe sent a copy of my "published" letter with some info on Maryland.

Spotlight on the Arts

by Konrad Herling

Ron Wilder will direct and Mac Fancher will provide the musical direction of a musical revue, "You, The Night & the Music" beginning Friday evening, April 4 and concluding Saturday night, April 19. Wilder and Fancher have worked together on a variety of area theater productions over the last decade ("A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," "Mame" and "1776" but this is their first production at GAC.)

Wilder looks at the upcoming production this way: "In putting together a musical revue, there are many options open to you. With this revue, Mac and I decided to try and give the audience some songs they would know as well as songs from shows they might not know. Many of the songs come from musicals that groups would not ordinarily select but are a treasure chest of wonderful music. This venue of the revue gives the performers a chance to perform songs they might not otherwise get a chance to do." The show gives Fancher, an executive vice president of an international publishing company, and Wilder who helps run the graduate program of the American Psychological Association, a chance to work with GAC together for the first time. As usual, tickets can be reserved by calling 301-441-8770.

Powder Mill Road Construction Plans

Powder Mill Road between Route 197 and the Baltimore-Washington Parkway will be under construction for the next twelve months while the road is resurfaced.

From about April 1 until December, Powder Mill Road will be one-way, eastbound only, between Soil Conservation Service Road (SCS Road) and Route 197.

Westbound traffic coming from Route 197 should use the Baltimore-Washington Parkway to bypass the Powder Mill Road construction. To detour, drivers should remain on Route 197, turn left onto the entrance ramp of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway South toward Washington, and take the Powder Mill Road/Beltsville exit.

From eastbound Route 197 traffic to bypass Powder Mill Road, turn right onto Old Laurel-Bowie

Road, turn right into Route 564, turn right onto Route 193, and turn right onto the entrance ramp to the Baltimore-Washington Parkway North toward Baltimore. Take the Powder Mill Road/Beltsville exit.

During construction, electronic message signs on Route 197 will display Powder Mill Road traffic advisories including dates of traffic restriction.

Construction will also occur to improve the intersection of Powder Mill and Soil Conservation Service Roads. Two-way traffic will be maintained, but traffic may be slowed.

In addition, storm management facilities will be under construction along Powder Mill Road west of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and along Research Road. This work should not have a major impact on traffic flow.

State Senate Passes Boat Regulation Bill

by James Giese

State Senator Leo Green's bill to further regulate boat rental operations (SB 787) has passed the Maryland Senate and was to be heard by the House of Delegates' Environmental Committee on Wednesday. The bill has been amended since first introduced to clarify the definition for "seaworthy condition" and to require all boat rental operators to possess a boating safety certificate. The legislation was introduced by the senator as a result of the boating accident which occurred on Greenbelt Lake last summer when the operator took three others out in a boat which took on water, causing the occupants to fall into the water and one man to drown.

Funeral services were held at St. Hugh's Catholic Church on Monday, March 24 with interment following at the Greenbelt Cemetery. A luncheon was held for friends and family by the Ladies Auxiliary of the fire department.

A memorial tree will be planted in Greenbelt by the Greenbelt High School Class of '45.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, Inc., Box 35, Greenbelt, MD 20768.

given statements by McLaughlin that the city was looking into the problem underlying it. Recent benefits granted officers, such as night differential and on-call pay are not extended to the lieutenants and the chief (Craze asked council not to consider him in the FOP request). The combination of overtime pay, night differential and on-call pay permit at least one sergeant to make more than the lieutenants. The request that lieutenants be eligible for up to $1,200 in "on-call" pay (designed to recognize that the off-duty activities of officers are limited when they are on-call), was designed to help address this inequity. Craze said that some corporals make more than the lieutenants. A memorandum by Human Resources Officer Barbara Havekost disputes these claims, however. She says that only one sergeant's pay exceeds that of the lieutenants. The remaining sergeants, she said, all make less (though not necessarily much less) than the lieutenants. However, McLaughlin stated that there is an issue of equity that ought to be examined.

On-Call Pay

The FOP also is asking for an increase in the on-call pay from $3.30 per day to $5.30 per day. For an officer who is on-call seven days per week, 52 weeks per year, this would raise the current on-call pay of $1,200 per year to roughly $2,000 per year. Rogers noted that the on-call rate has not changed since it was introduced in 1993. McLaughlin estimates that granting this increase would cost $16,900 per year.

Night Differential

Officers who work at least half of their scheduled shift after 7 p.m. are paid a night differential of $1.25/hour for the hours worked between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. The FOP asked that this differential be increased to $2.00/hour. Putens noted that the night differential paid by other jurisdictions is "a lot more than this." Davis asked the staff to gather information on the practices of other jurisdictions.

1995-96 PRINCE GEORGE'S CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SMALL BUSINESS OF THE YEAR

The search is on to find MISS LANHAM AND MISS GREENBELT 1997, according to Lorrie Johnson, Executive Director of the Miss Lanham/Greenbelt Scholarship Program, a preliminary to the Miss Maryland Scholarship Pageant and national Miss America Scholarship Program. More details about your local program along with contestant forms are available by phoning (301) 982-0799.

Young women between the ages of 17 and 24 who live, work or go to school in Maryland are eligible to compete for scholarship monies and an opportunity to go on to the State Pageant in June 1997. The State winner will advance to the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, New Jersey in September 1997. In conjunction, the program is looking for a Teen Miss Lanham (ages 13-17) and a Little Miss Lanham (ages 5-8). Teen Miss Lanham will advance to the Miss Teen Maryland Pageant to be held in Hagerstown the week of Miss Maryland in June.

Miss contestants will be required to participate in four phases of competition: a private interview, talent, evening wear and swimsuit. Teen contestants will participate in interview, talent, evening wear and sportswear with the Little Miss competing in interview and party dress.

The pageant will be held on Sunday, April 6th at 3PM at the Greenbelt Community Center in Greenbelt. The reigning Miss Lanham, (who went on to win Miss Maryland), Susan Elizabeth Alexander, will make a special appearance and be on hand to help the reigning Miss Greenbelt, Diana Soriano, with the crowning.

Entries deadline for the pageant is March 31, 1997.

Pageant guests will be:

Nicole Mesina
Stacey Lynn Smith
Diana Soriano
Heather Metzger
Jami Fox
The Young Americans
Mystique

Miss Suburban Maryland
Miss Southern Maryland
Miss College Park
Miss Antietam
Miss Prince George's County

"Our dream is to find a Miss America from the Lanham/Greenbelt area," said Lorrie. "The current Miss Maryland, Susan Alexander, has certainly helped put Maryland on the map; and we are hoping her successor will go all the way, winning the Miss America crown in September."

POLICE BLOTTER

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

A 16-year-old Greenbelt youth was charged with an attempted strong arm robbery that occurred around noon the day before—Sunday, March 16—at a Greenway Center Drive parking lot. As the victim was exiting his vehicle, he was approached by three youths, all on bicycles, one of whom demanded money. When the driver refused, the suspect again demanded money, threatening to harm him. He refused again, however, and fled into a nearby office building. At this point the youths sped away, heading south on Hanover Parkway. Only one youth was involved in the robbery attempt. His case awaits action in the juvenile justice system.

On the 18th in the middle of the afternoon, police responded to the report of gun shots from a residence in the 3 court of Research Rd. They discovered that a 39-year-old man, had been shooting at birds from a window in the home. He was arrested for reckless endangerment and held on a $1500 bond pending trial.

The front door glass was broken by vandals at the Greenbelt Variety Store on Centerway, as reported early Tuesday morning, March 11.

Vandalisms to, thefts from, and attempted thefts of vehicles occurred on Springhill Ct., Breezewood Ct., Breezewood Terrace, Mandan Rd. and Greenbury Dr., as well as at Beltway Plaza and Greenway Plaza.
